WRATHER PROBABILITIES.—For this section unsettled weather tonight and Tuesday with occasional showers; light to fresh winds, mostly southerly.

Suicide.

Mr. Samuel Tennyson, a well-known resident, drowned himself early this morning in the river between King and Cameron streets. The deceased had been in a meianchely state of mind recently, and this morning about 6 o'clock he proceeded to the wharf adjoining the lumber yards and deliberately entered the water. The tide was low at the time and he waded out toward the channel. His procedure attracted the attention of Captain Mason, in charge of a vessel near by, and Mr. Frank Burrage, who was on a neighboring wharf, and the two men entered a small boat and started after Mr. Tennesson. When they overtook him they caught hold of his arms and started to row towards the shore. He however, freed himself from their hold and grasped the stern of the boat apparently with the intention of retaining his hold until brought into the dock. While the two men were attempting to bring the boat ashore Mr. Tennyson released his hold on it and fell back into the river. He was again caught by Capt. Mason and Mr. Burrage, but once more broke lease from their and sank. His body was loose from them and sank. His body was recovered shortly afterward by Capt. Keith Davis and taken to Mr. B. Wheatley's undertaking establishment. The deceased was the youngest son of the late Charles Tennyson, and was about 14 years old. He leaves a widow and three children.

Floating Bar Room.

A fisherman's ark, belonging to parties living in this city, has recently en anchored on Sundays in the waters of the District of Columbia between the shippard and Jones's Point. The ark is floating bar room and parties who patronize it row to it in small boats. Those who conduct the business fill the ark with beer, ice, &c., on Saturdays and tow it to a point in the river beyond the jurisdiction of the city of Alexandria and the State of Virginia, and on Sunday mornings await the approach of customers in foot boats. Yesterday morning the Washington police boat Vigilant went to the ark and Capt. Sutton asked to see the license under which the floating bar room was conducted. A United States license was produced. The captain of the Vigilant then told the proprietor that he would not be allowed remain in any one place over two hours, and while the mercury was soaring in the nineties the owner of the ark was compelled at intervals to tow it from place to place until the close of the day.
Last fall, it will be remembered, Mayor
Simpson fined two colored individuals $50 each for selling liquor from an ark in

The Washington Terminal.

Col. Biddle, Engineer Commissioner of the District of Columbia, held a conference yesterday with a representative of the Washington, Alexandria and Mount Vernon Railway Company in re-gard to the change in the terminal of the road. The opposition to the route up Ohio avenue, Fifteenth, and E streets was discussed. The Commissioner rewas onscussed. In a discount of the control of the control of routes which would be acceptable and feasible. It is now believed that some arrangement may be made whereby a loop around the Emergency Hospital may be avoided. It is said, however, that the suggestion for the construction of a "Y" at Fourteenth and E streets is impracticable.

The Use of Electricity.

An item in the Gazette a few days ago alluding to the limited use of electricity for illuminating purposes or power in the city of Alexandria, has caused some . A white man, arreste persons to suggest the reason. They aver that the underwriters do not approve of the introduction of electric wires in houses under present conditions in this city, alleging that the voltage from the railway power houses is too high for illumination or power in residences and factories from the fact that a grounded current is used. Some, too, are appre hensive that danger is incurred in its use in its present shape. Its irregularity is also assigned as another reason why the current is not desirable.

Warm Sunday.

The weather during the greater parof yesterday was uncomfortably warm. About four o'clock in the afternoon clouds gathered west of the city, there were indications of approaching rain. They, however, emptied them-selves several miles below Alexandria and crossed over the river into Maryland. Alexandria received the refreshing breezes which accompanied the storm, and the temperature fell rapidly. The weather during the night was cloudy and cool. People living west of this city say the wind was very high in that region. The clouds of dust were so thick that it
